

Students Expect Only One Tenth Number To Army

AUSTIN—Colleges and universities over the national will lose 11 per cent of their male students to Uncle Sam's defense this summer, if these students today accurately prognosticate their future, Student Opinion Surveys of America disclosed in the results of a national sampling. Projected against the total enrollment in college today, this figure suggests that more than 30,000 college men believe they will either be called by their local draft board or else they will volunteer for their year's service instead of returning to school in the fall.

Because of the Selective Act provision permitting deferment until June 1 for all men 21 or over enrolled in school, very few undergraduates have already entered into their year of military training.

Besides the 11 per cent above, nearly 10 per cent are not planning to return to school next year, but do not believe they will be drafted or will volunteer. Nearly four-fifths of the students now in school believe they will return for at least one more year's study. This should not be interpreted to mean that college enrollments will be depleted by 11 per cent. This figure is merely an indication as to how much the defense program is liable to affect the college male.

The exact percentages, as found by the Surveys through interviews taken on the score of campuses participating in the poll, are as follows:

Will volunteer or be drafted	11.2%
Will return to College	79.2
Will Do Neither	9.6

(This tabulation does not include the 6 per cent who are undecided.)

Lander Girls At Sunday Vespers

Vespers last Sunday were conducted by a delegation of students from Lander College.

Those included in the group were Misses Louise Timmerman of Westminster, president; Ruth Grubbs, secretary; Mary Livingston; Beatrice Kirkland; Doris McKinney; Lottie Browning; Sarah Watkins; Gwen Walton; Frances Bishop; Nancy Winebrenner; Sara Corley; and Martha Mason.

Besides music presented by the group, the playing of the violin by Miss Mason and the piano by Miss Bishop was unusually well received by those present. Approximately 900 students and campus folk heard these visiting friends from Lander College.

In February, 1940, the Surveys found 81 per cent of the nation's college students opposed to passage of a bill by Congress requiring every able-bodied young man 20 years of age to enter a year's training in the Army or Navy.

Exactly one year previous 80 per cent of the college men declared they would not volunteer if the U. S. went to war for reasons other than the defense of the country, but in October, 1939, only 58 per cent said they would not volunteer if the U. S. went to war against Germany to protect England and France.
